DMT is a psychedelic drug. It is probably the most natural drug in the world.

Why? Because all plants and animals contain traces of DMT. However, some roots and plants have the highest concentration.

The simplest way to experience DMT is to do the famous ayahuasca brew. Which is basically Banisteriopsis caapi brewed with the leaves of other plants, such as Psychotria viridis or Diplopterys cabrerana. This psychedelic effect last 8 hours.

But probably the easiest and safest method is to take pure DMT powder (that has been solved from a plant or root) and vaporize it. This psychedelic effect only last 10-15 minutes. And it is life changing.

This is where you see the DMT elves. Only then will you understand. I wouldn't even consider DMT a drug. Rather, a method of transportation to other dimensions.

They are simply the beings that exist in the dimension we can't see normally. I've seen them. They do things and react to you, hard to explain as it's been a while. But I recall one of them offering me something, and as soon as I accepted it I became overwhelmed with and understanding of things that made me tear up emotionally.

I have changed. And for the good.

Is Jones doing alright? I first noticed his limp last month. Seems like a new development.

SUPER DRY there looks like he could body-slam Andre the Giant!

Glad he's got some big bodies guarding him
